

Go Solo, Travel Together

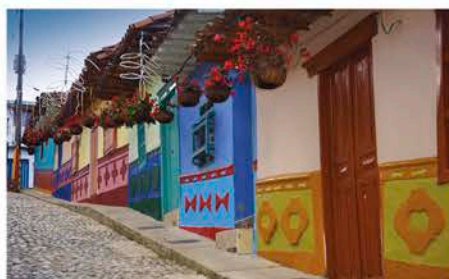

Ever get the urge to travel, but no one to go with? That intense desire to sip coffee in Colombia or ride a camel across the desert (a la Lawrence of Arabia) or explore bustling Old Delhi from the back of a rickshaw? Sounds like it's time to ditch your friends and give solo travel a try. Travelling alone on a group tour with Intrepid has major perks: we've got expert local leaders to show you around, ready-made friends who are itching to explore (just like you), and logistics, accommodation and transport already taken care of. And for the first time, we've put three new solo-only adventures on the books; the only third wheel on these trips will be the one on your rickshaw.
